

Futurus briefing paper – The political caste

This paper, The Political Caste, was written as far back as 2007, but it is still very relevant to today's situation. It discusses the disconnect between the views of the élite and those of the electorate as a whole, attempting to explain the reasons behind this.