

CIBUK - PRESS RELEASE

EMBARGO: Immediate release

Wednesday, 5 October 2022

"Brexit Britain continues to outperform the EU by a very long way," says the Campaign for an Independent Britain

The EU accidentally provides a classic example of how the UK 'works' and the EU doesn't.

Jobless youth is forgotten as EU trumpets plan to engage in "euro-babble" with young people worldwide.

In a hard-hitting report this morning, CIBUK (URL) responds to yesterday's statements from the EU Commission on its youth policies and contrasts the EU's poor performance for the young people of the EU with that of a consistently more successful Brexit Britain.

With the UK's young people continuing to favour a return to EU membership, CIBUK asks whether they know:

"Brexit Britain continues to outperform the EU on youth unemployment and on overall unemployment – by a very long way."

CIBUK (<https://cibuk.org/>) – the longest-established organisation for independence, freedom and democracy in the UK.

Commenting, CIBUK's Communications Director, Ben Philips, said:

"Our report this morning clearly demonstrates just how far the EU Commission has got its priorities wrong for the young people of the continent.

"Instead of addressing the urgent need to help those in EU countries where a third of all young people are unable to get a job, leave home, and start building their own lives, the Commission is focused on "euro-babble" – meaningless globalist platitudes which don't deliver anything for the youth of the EU itself.

"CIBUK – in association with our affiliated organisation Facts4EU.Org – feels Britain's young people would want to know far more about how little they seem to be valued in the EU and how much better the situation is in the United Kingdom. Youth unemployment in the UK is still too high, but it's a great deal less than in most EU countries, as we show in our analysis today."
