

Revealed: Brexit Britain's migrant population now stands at over 10 million – and growing

PRESS RELEASE - IMMEDIATE

Dear supporter

I thought the following article may be of interest to you :

Latest figures reveal details of who has come and where they're from

The situation is not only critical.
It is also official.

Latest figures show that more than 10 MILLION people now living permanently in England and Wales were not born anywhere in the United Kingdom.

And these figures do not even include Scotland or Northern Ireland whose census data is due for release later this year.

Campaign for an Independent Britain - CIBUK (<https://cibuk.org/>) – the oldest-established organisation for independence, freedom and democracy in the UK – and its affiliate Facts4EU.Org – lay bare the alarming rise in net migration into the country after detailed analysis of the latest data from the ONS.

Summary:-

- Migrants from the EU27 : 3,632,470
- Migrants from the rest of the world (NON-EU) : 6,389,005
- Total : 10,021,475

A little twist

If the Scots and Northern Irish living in England and Wales are added to the above, then it means the English and Welsh are sharing their homelands with nearly 11 million (10,868,240) people who were born elsewhere. That's almost one in five.

Commenting, Ben Philips, Director of Communications for CIB, said:

"The bare statistics alone are astonishing : more than one in six people living permanently in England and Wales are not UK-born.

Only the most foolish and blinkered can fail to be concerned about the implications behind these numbers which we will raise in a second report.

For now we urge our readers to reflect on the astonishing numbers we publish today."
