"I think it's great that we're now an independent country. I want us to use our freedoms more than we have so far."

(Sir John Redwood)

In a wide-ranging interview Sir John highlights the huge economic opportunities now available to the UK outside the EU and implores the government to take full advantage of them.

"Democracy has won! We are now in charge of our own destiny!"

(Sir Jacob Rees-Mogg)

Pulling no punches Sir Jacob bangs the drum for Brexit Britain, for nation-state democracy, and for the huge opportunities now open to us.

Sir John and Sir Jacob were in conversation with our star TV presenter,

Alexandra Phillips, formerly of GB News and now of Talk TV.

Commenting on the report's findings, Director of Communications at CIBUK, Ben Philips said

"After watching these interviews, viewers will be in no doubt about the overwhelming economic case for Brexit. Freed at last from the shackles of EU membership, the huge opportunities now on offer are just waiting to be grasped – if only the government were brave enough to do so! Sir John and Sir Jacob set out a compelling vision of a self-confident United Kingdom once again exerting its influence and ingenuity across the globe."
