

‘Plucky Swiss in defiance of ECHR Ruling’

The ruling by the European Court on Human Rights (ECHR) last week against the Swiss government for failing to do enough to cut carbon emissions has caused outrage across that country. Because the UK government continues to be bound by the case-law of this foreign court there are now significant implications for lawsuits against the British government.

This was the first time the ECHR had ruled on climate change and it represents a huge extension of its power.

CIBUK and Brexit Facts4EU are pleased to share the following exclusive interview between Martin Daubney, presenter on GB News and former Brexit Party MEP, and Stephan Rieteker, the President of Pro Schweiz, the Swiss independence movement and powerful voice for ordinary Swiss people who value their traditional freedoms.

Here is the GB News interview, with Martin Daubney asking the question

Direct link to the YouTube video

Editors and journalists can contact Ben Philips, Comms Director, CIBUK (<https://cibuk.org/>) for more information and quotes.
ben.philips@cibuk.org / +44 (0)7947 751982

Kind regards,

Ben Philips
Communications Editor, CIBUK.org
Mobile : 07947 751982
Email: ben.philips@cibuk.org